

SERVICE AGREEMENT

The Customer shall be responsible for any and all losses and damages without limitation.

The Customer shall indemnify and hold harmless the Supplier from all claims, losses, damages, liabilities and expenses.

This agreement shall automatically renew for successive one year periods unless either party gives written notice.

The Customer shall not compete with the Supplier during the agreement and for two years after termination.

Either party may terminate this agreement at any time without cause.

The party shall have unlimited liability for monetary damages with no maximum cap.

The parties agree that all confidential information shall remain confidential.

Neither party shall be liable for indirect or consequential damages.